Spring in Port Jefferson

Although it's a little soggy out there, it feels a lot like spring.

Looking forward to Commissioning this Sunday, May 19th and the weather promises to cooperate.

Boats are going in the water and lots of plans are being made for boating season. One of my favorites is Tuesday night racing. If you haven't raced before, give it a try. We, as in the Rachek family crew, decided to race a few years ago with no experience whatsoever. We have learned so much about sailing from racing on Tuesday nights and even getting tips from our competitors. If you are crewing, bring your camera or phone because the sunsets you will see are just incredible. It's always fun to go back to the bar afterward and have some friendly rivalry chit-chat. And for us, it's one night during the week that we are forced to use our boat in our otherwise very busy work week. If you don't want to race your own boat, sign up to crew on someone else's boat.

My second favorite is kayaking with the ladies one morning during the week that is favorable to all. It's so beautiful out there sitting in a kayak, chatting with friends. We meet once a week and go out for about two hours. We head over to Pirate's Cove or Conscience Bay and haven't lost anyone yet along the way. If anyone would like to join us, please let us know and we will put you on the e-mail list.

So I hope to see all of you down at the club, the outside deck is set up and it was so nice enjoying a cocktail out there last Friday night. It's your club, enjoy it.

Corresponding Secretary

NEW AWNING INSTALLED

The new awning is completed. Made of 29 gauge metal with a new “Colorfast 45” finish the roofing carries a 45 year finish warranty against fading, chalking and chipping. Further, it withstands severe weather conditions including high wind and fire. While considered a temporary structure as our old canvas awning was, we do not need to take it down and reinstall it every year. This awning is maintenance free! Best of all, we saved $700.00 over a canvas replacement. Please join me in thanking Ed Nielsen, Ken Babits and Phil Schiavon for their time and construction skills. A very special thanks to Alan Johnson for the working on the design, planning and procurement of materials, as well as the construction and problem solving.

PORT JEFFERSON YACHT CLUB

2019 Fishing Tournament

The Port Jefferson Yacht Club will hold its 11th Annual Fishing Tournament starting at 12:01 a.m. Saturday 6/8 and ending 4:00 p.m. Sunday 6/9/19. Members and their guests are invited to enjoy a 39 hour tournament targeting Fluke, Bluefish, Striped Bass, and Porgies. New York State now requires all anglers to register with the Marine Fishing Registry. There is no fee and it takes just a few minutes to register by phone 1-866-933-2257 or on-line at www.dec.ny.gov/63.html

An awards reception will be held from 4:45 to 7:30 p.m. on Sunday 6/9/19 where winners will be presented their trophies. Additionally, the Captains of each of the winning vessels will be presented with an award at the PJYC Annual Dinner Dance.

There is a registration fee of $35 per participant ($15 for children 12 and under). Registration forms are available at the club or by e-mailing Jack Bowman at jjb@mindplusmuscle.com. For further information call Jack at (631) 513-3632.

IMAGINE THIS

Imagine this: living on a luxury yacht, getting to check out the high-tech bells and whistles, and getting paid for living the sweet life for a week.

That's the scenario that will play out for the right candidate of a dream job opening.

London-based online luxury store and concierge service Hush Hush is looking to hire a yacht tester. The objective is to make sure the watercraft being offered to customers on the site is in tip-top shape.

According to the job posting, the yacht reviewer will spend a week living, sleeping, eating and showering on the pleasure craft. In addition, you have to test everything on board, including every plug socket, door, bed, shower and tap.

The job is a "pro-rata, self employed" role, which means you'll need to be flexible and on call, says Hush Hush.

You'll also need to be 21 years old or older, have a passport, and be available on short notice.

But, of course, there's the pay for such a job. Hush Hush's yacht reviewer is expected to earn about $1,300 per review, and there is the potential to review up to 50 yachts a year. That's good enough for an annual salary of about $65,000.

"We need someone who is reliable, hard-working and has an eye for detail, we're expecting them to find things that no-one else would notice. I'm hoping to find someone who is perfect for the job as soon as possible!" said the site's founder Aaron Harpin.

You can check out the job listing and apply through the Hush Hush website.

Editor's note: This came from a website that lists luxury yachts for sale.
